

Are you a chemical engineer?

Researchers at the University of Kentucky have developed a research study for chemical engineering students and professionals aimed at understanding your engineering experience.

You are eligible to participate if you are:

- At least 18 years of age
- A chemical engineering student or professional in academia or industry

The participation time will be approximately 10 minutes and the survey is anonymous which means that investigators will neither know which responses belong to you, nor even that you participated.
